A Riot and Result.

[Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.] HEWLETT'S, July 24 .- Returning home at halfpast two o'clock Sunday morning, I discovered distance away and as I approached, heard the most riotous demonstration I ever conceived of. equalled it. Several hundred voices of all ages and of both sexes, raised to their highest pitch, most of them, evidently knew not of what they eried. Threats, oaths, stamping and scraping of feet, rushing back and forth, induced me to approach them, and though I rode up to the inclosure, ten yards, only, distant, and raised my voice, time and again, to its highest pitch, could not make it heard. Riding away to my home, a half mile distant, I could hear the din and uproar and

The Khedive has been strongly advised to dismiss Ragheb Pacha from the ministry and place him under arrest. It is expected also that, as the ministers are the mere creatures of Arabi Pacha, the Khedive will dismiss them all and from a new ministry under Cherif Pacha.

Mr. Crowther, one of two English engineers who were reported massacred at Tanta. has arrived at London. An Italian refugee says he saw eighty-five European bodies lying in the streets of Tantah, and that intestines were being flung at windows and about the streets. A Greek's throat was hacked with a penknife, and two English women jumpted from windows and were killed, in order to escape the massacre. Arabi Pacha put on a train to carry away the Christian survivors, and about one hundred persons boarded it. No sooner were they seated than a determined attempt was made to murder them, and it was only frustrated by a friendly native causing the train to start. There is an unconfirmed report of a fanatical outbreak at Smyrna, in which many Christians were massacred.

All the mule-cart drivers engaged by the commissariat have deserted to Arabi. The Khedive belives that by liberal payment the services of Bedouins might be secured to insure the safety of the Suez Canal.

Massey and Jones in Luray.

There was a discussion at Luray, Page county, yesterday between Mr. Massey and Col. A. W. Jones. A special to the Richmond Dispatch says:

"Mr. Massey led off in a speech of an hour in a fair, candid, argumentative speech, in which he arraigned Mahone and his lieutenants and handled them without gloves, exposing their perfidy in claiming to be democrats and supporting a stalwart republican Administration. He said that he stood now where he had always stood; that in 1880 he and Mahone stood together for he stood now just where he stood then, while Mahone had gone over to the stalwart republicans; and asked who had deserted his principles and his party? He declared to nothing, but it is also said that Mr. himself in favor of a repeal of the internal Windsor is the favorite of General Mahone revenue sortem of taxation and in favor of for the nomination, and if this be so he will so arranged as to foster and protect all our place these interests not merely on an proved by the "Big Four," and showed that he purpose in trying to secure the passage of the propositions was to find places for more necks and more mouths for the collars and bits that Mahone held."

Colonel Jones followed in a speech of an had sinned and fallen. He defended the action of the last Legislature in their efforts to pass the commissioner of sales bill, claimeral views, and support the administration quarter. that would carry out these views. Oh! but, says one, the people will (the alleged reason for the action of the not go into the churches or synagogues, and sinking fund commissioners). The protest we must go after them. That may do very concludes by notifying the commissioners well where there are no churches or synagogues. The Apostles could have made use of the same plea, with much more propriety, for Jerusalem is said to have had a million of inhabitants at that time, to say noting of the smaller cities visited by Christ and his Apostles. Where you have a house or houses of worship, use them; where you have none you will be excused for teaching and preaching in the streets, but do not "sound a trumpet before thee, as the hypo-crites do, to be seen of men." The simple story of the cross does not need so much sensational machinery; whether men will hear or whether they will forbear. There was nothing of this sort among us a few lights flashing in and around an old house some years ago. Where did it come from? Evidently not from Bible teachings, as above stated. FROM WASHINGTON

[Special Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.] WASHINGTON, D. C., July 25, 1882.-Mr. Miller, who was so severely castigated the other day by Senator Butler, for the gross and unwarrantable attack he had made upon him, having partially recovered from the depression consequent upon that castigation, reappeared in the House to-day, and rising to a personal explanation had the Clerk read the report of the Senate committee on the Hamburg affair as an excuse for his unparliamentary and discourteous allusions to a member of the other house of Congress. He then read a short speech in which he said he would not reply in kind to the remarks of the South Carolina Senator, because to do so would lose him the respect of his constituents (this produced derisive smiles on the democratic side) and that while the noble deeds of the descendants of a noble ancestry rendered them the more noble, their ignoble deed rendered them concontemptable. The most remarkable thing about the Miller affair was the applause his speech in defence of his low and utterly unjustifiable assault upon Senator Butler received on his side of the House, and the number of republicans who appeared anxions to assist him. Senator Butler, when informed by a friend of what Mr. Miller had said and told that the speech really amounted to nothing, quietly remarked that "there is only one way to treat a cur," implying that that way was the one he had pursued toward Mr. Miller, whose looks, words and actions do suggest the idea of a fice, though that word is not in Webster's unabridged. During the momentary absence of a door keeper from one of the doors of the House yesterday two lady visitors unfamiliar with the Capitol not knowing that they were excluded walked in upon the floor. Their presence was at once observed, and they were the objects of general attention and remark until they retired, having been imformed of their mistake. While they were on the floor one member said, "Let them stay, Butterworth is not here."

The conference committee on the river and harbor bill agree upon and presented their report to-day. The whole amount appropriated is a little over eighteen and a half millions, of which over four millions are for the Mississippi, four hundred thousand for the Potomac flats and ten thousand for the survey of the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal. It is generally believed that the report will be adopted by both houses. It is said here that letters have been received from four of the counties in the 8th Congressional district of Virginia, all of readjustment and national democracy; that | which say that the new postmaster of Alexandria, D. A. Windsor, will probably be the Mahoneite candidate for Congress in that district. These letters by themselves amount tariff for revenue, with incidental protection certainly have it. It is said that the General favors Mr. Windsor because he looks upon interests and all our people alike, and to his movement in the 8th district as a forlorn hope, and will not expend a dollar upon it, equality with the productions of the pauper but, being desirous that it should succeed, labor of Europe, but above it. Foster is pressed" a package marked "old gold" to instituted suit against the express company for $500 damages, and the suit is still pending. As the package bore no evidence of being tampered with the company set to work to prove the fraud on Foster himself. Their efforts were at last rewarded on Saturday by Foster's attempting a somewhat similar game, though this time on the citizens of Montgomery instead of on the express company. On Thursday last he "expressed" a package to J. L. Clark, Philadelphia. That night he reported at police headquarters that he had been robbed. His story was that he was in the habit of taking to his house all the jewelry on hand at the close of each day, and that on Thursday night he was set upon by unknown parties in a dark place on the road home, was knocked senseless, robbed of his satchel of jewels and left for dead. He left a list of missing articles with the police. The next day the utfer absence of any mark of a blow on his head caused general suspicion, for, though he swore it was there, nobody could see it.

The express company's agent at once suspected that the package sent off by Foster the day before had the missing articles, and telegraphed for its return. It came on Saturday, and the list left at Police Headquarters corresponded exactly with what it contained. There were six watches and a chain, all gold. The machinery had all been taken from the watches. On Saturday night Foster was arrested at his home, in bed, about mid-night. He adhered to his story of having been robbed until Sunday, when he confessed the whole in the police court and Foster was admitted to bail in the sum of $400.

Bloodless Duel. CHRISTIANSBURG, Va., July 25 .- Captain John S. Wise, readjuster candidate for Congressman at large, and John S. Crockett, commonwealth Attorney of Wythe county, came to this place on an early train this morning, and fought a duel near here with pistols. At the first round both fired at the word, without effect. At the second round Crockett's pistol exploded prematurely. After reloading his weapon, both combatants came to time for a second, which resulted in Wise's pistol missing fire and Crockett's fire being harmless. Crockett, who was the challenging party, expressed himself satisfied, and the fight terminated. This hostile meeting had its origin in a personal rencontre which took place on Monday, 17th inst., at Marion, in Smyth county, when Capt. Wise met Crockett and interrogated him about certain language, which Crockett had attributed to Wise. Crockett acknowledged that he had made the statement and said it was true. Wise denounced it as false and struck Crockett. Before the latter could resent the blow outsiders intervened, and both men were arrested and fined for breach of the peace. This caused a subsequent correspondence which resulted in the duel. No arrests have yet been made.

In the Whole History of Medicine

No preparation has ever performed such marvellous cures or maintained so wide a reputation, as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, which is recognized as the world's remedy for all diseases of the throat and lungs. Its long continued series of wonderful cures in all climates has made it universally known as a safe and reliable agent to employ. Against ordinary colds, which are the forerunners of more serious disorders, it acts speedily and surely, always relieving suffering, and often sav-ing life. The protection it affords by its timely use in throat and chest disorders, makes it an invaluable remedy to be kept always on hand in every home. No person can afford to be without it, and those who have once used it, never will. From their knowledge of its composition and operation, physicians use the CHERRY PECTORAL extensively in their practice, and clergymen recommend it. It is absolutely certain in its healing effects, and will always cure where cures

ALEXANDRIA MARKET, July 25 .- Flour is lower. The receipts of Wheat are increasing but prices here as elsewhere are declining; we note sales of 6,800 bushels at 108 for Fultz, 108 for mixed and 110a112 for Lancaster. Corn keeps up and small lots of white sold at 105. Rye and Oats brought 80 and 61 respective. Country produce is quiet at last quotations.

BALTIMORE CATTLE MARKET, July 24,-Buef Cattle.-Prices of Beef Cattle ranged as follows: Best 7 10a$8 00; that generally rated first quality 5 75a$6 75; medium or good fair quality 4 25a$5 75; ordinary thin Steers, Oxen and Cows 3 25a$3 50. Extreme range of prices 3 25a $8 00. Most of the sales were from 4 50a$6 50 per 100 lbs. Total receipts for the week 2031 head; total sales for the week 1317 head. The market has been quite slow again this week, scarcely as active, even, as last week. Prices are off; extreme tops, of which there were exceedingly few, show little or no change, but this was owing only to their scarcity, while medium were off 4a 4c and common fully 4c per lb, and the bulk of the offerings was of the latter class.

Milch Cows. Good Cows are very scarce and are in good demand; common plentiful and dull.

Prices 30a$45 per head. Sheep and Lambs.—The offerings of good stock are comparatively light this week, most of it being quite common. These latter are very dull of sale, while the few good ones have sold off readily and at improved figures over last week. There has been no outside demand. We quote Sheep at 3a54 cents, and Lambs at 4a6 cents per 1b gross very few selling at or near the latter price. Receipts this week 6586 head.

Hogs.—Though there is a falling off of nearly 2000 head in the number of the receipts, as compared with last week, yet the offerings seem to be quite adequate for the very moderate demand, universally reported in all the yards. Prices are scarcely up to those of last week, for though the figures are unchanged, fewer sales are made at or near the top prices than last week. The quality is about the same as it was then. We quote at 10 4 a11 2 cents, and extra at 113 4 cts per lb net.

Receipts this week 3306 head.
